A Teachers

QUOTE UNQUOTE

I have renamed teacher's day as 'Educationist's Day'. In today's competitive world we don't need teachers who are known for teaching whatever knowledge they have but need educationists who build mental skills in people.

Sunil Chaudhary, IMS

My teacher is my father. He always guides me to work hard. He reminds me the formula of success that is determination, dedication and devotion. Teacher is a really a key person in the life of student. I recommend all the students to have special respect for their loving teachers.

Different teachers have different style but the most important trait of a good teacher is the level of trust she generates among her students. The biggest compliment a teacher can get is the enshrined faith the students put in her- just as a patient puts in his doctor. Expressions like mentorship, guidance and amenability are only possible when a student can trust her teacher blindly. Of course, this blind trust doesn't come overnight. There's consistent hard work, sincerity, dedication and sacrifice involved in making that happen.

Teachers' Day has different meaning for everyone. On this day children particularly remember their favourite teacher. We spoke to a few kids who told us very frankly why they love their favourite teacher.

Says Vikramaditya Bhatnagar, class VI, "My favourite teacher is Mohit Dogra, my music teacher. This is so as I have known him for the past four years and he has taught me many tunes on the keyboard. He teaches us well and is fond of singing old songs. He has a wonderful voice which I like very much. I like him the most because he always selects me for the school choir."

Says Devashish Singal, class X, "My favourite teacher is Ashad Quezilibash, because he is friendly, understanding and helps and guides me whenever required. He is a patient and calm minded person. He is the most honest and trustworthy teacher I have ever met. It is hard to hide anything from him."

Says Uday Shriram, Class X, "My history and civics teacher K.V. Arjun Rao is my favourite teacher. He is practically a friend to everyone in the class. He teaches with flair and portrays lessons like a story, which
